

COMPANY CHIEF PETTY OFFICER

This program requires the submission of a package and E-resume at the time of application.

Job Description

Company Chief Petty Officers are located in two areas at the Academy; with the Corps of Cadets and as the Chief of the Barracks at OCS. All applicants must be qualified and prepared to fill both positions.

Training future officers is a great responsibility that demands extraordinary commitment on the part of those entrusted with their development. Interested applicants desiring assignment as a Company CPO must have a strong record of demonstrated leadership, commitment to Coast Guard Core Values, and aspire to be a role model for future officers, impeccable personal appearance, superb communication skills, and aspire to be a role model for future officers.

The primary duties and responsibilities of the Cadet Company Chiefs are to coach and mentor the Corps of Cadets' chain-of-command. In doing so, the Corps of Cadets will develop an intimate understanding of the strengths of the enlisted work force. They will begin to foster the relationships with the Chiefs they will work and rely upon for the rest of their careers.

Company Chiefs will, by their personal example, set the highest standards of appearance, professionalism, moral, ethical and social conduct. They serve under the direction of the Assistant Commandant of Cadets, and work in concert with their Company Officers while focusing on company issues. Company Chiefs work separately from the Cadet Chain of Command, strengthening it by creating a better understanding of that chain for the Regiment.

The work day is dependent on regimental events. Flexibility is build into the system as events like drill and training begin at 0700 and formals run until 2200. Each company has one lieutenant, one chief and 125 cadets. Knowledge of basic Microsoft programs will help as Company Chief's hold training several times a month.

Company Chief's are not company commanders and are not required to participate in the cadet physical fitness program. Company Chief's hold the same leadership responsibility at the Academy they hold elsewhere; only without a technical assignment.

The primary duties and responsibilities of the Officer Candidate School Barracks Company Chief are as an instructor, mentor, and role model to the Officer Candidates. In doing so, the Officer Candidates will develop an intimate understanding of the strengths of the enlisted work force. Furthermore, they will begin to foster the relationships with the "Chiefs" with whom they will work.

The Barracks Chief Petty Officer shall, by their personal example, set the highest standards of appearance, professionalism, moral, ethical and social conduct. They serve under the direction of the Chief of Officer Candidate School, and are an integral part of the School's Leadership and Management Section.

The work day and environment can be dynamic at times. A typical day for Officer Candidates consists of morning physical fitness, watch relief, personnel inspections, morning and afternoon classes, drill, and evening study. Additionally, there are special events such as career day, billet night, dinner dance, and guest speakers that the Officer Candidates and staff attend.

This program is in New London, CT.
